BIGGEST YET.

Schooner Maggie and May Has 310,000 Pounds Salt Cod.

Fish Are Reported Scarce on Grand Bank.

Sch. Maggie and May, Capt. Alex. Mc-Eachern, arrived from Grand Bank last evening with a big fare of salt cod. Three hundred and ten thousand pounds is what Capt. McEachern calls them, and he generally has all that he hails for.

It is noticeable how many of the leading skippers have been close to the 300,000 mark this year. First, came Capt. Orlando Van Amberg in the Elector with 300,700 pounds, then the Valkyrie, Capt. Angus Hines, with 301,600 pounds, and sch. Mapel D. Hines, came Wednesday evening with something over 300,000 pounds. Now the Maggie and May arrives with 310,000 pounds, the largest salt bank trip of the season.

McEachern has several times been high line of the bank fleet and has a most enviable record for a long succession of quick and big fares. He is a wellknown citizen with a host of friends afloat and ashore who feel that his success is deserved.

Capt. McEachern reports fish scarce on Grand Bank and most of the fleet fishing to the westward.
